

AUTHOR'S GUIDELINES

INTRODUCTION

Annals of Applied Bio-Sciences (AABS) is an international, fast double-blind peer-reviewed, indexed, open access, online journal with a short post-acceptance online publication time. AABS accepts only electronic submission of manuscripts. Registration and login are required to submit items online and to check the status of current submissions. AABS assures a quick peer-review process, spanning to a maximum of 10 days, followed by a period for the revision by author and process of proofreading.

The constituents of a manuscript file should be presented in the following order:

1. Title page
2. Abstract
3. Key words
4. Main text
5. Acknowledgment
6. Declarations
7. References

8. Tables

9. Figure with Figure Legends

1. Title page

The title page should be paginated as page 1 of the manuscript. It should have the information in the following format:

- Type of article: (Original article, review article, etc.)
- Title of article: Concise and informative. Titles are often used in information-retrieval systems. Avoid abbreviations and formulae where possible.
- Author names and affiliations: The title page should include the names, and email addresses of author(s). Present the authors' affiliation addresses (where the actual work was done) below the names. Indicate all affiliations with a lower-case superscript letter immediately after the author's name and in front of the appropriate address. Provide the full postal address of each affiliation, including the country name.
- Corresponding author: Clearly indicate who is willing to handle correspondence at all stages of refereeing and publication, also post-publication. Ensure that telephone numbers (with country and area code) are provided in addition to the e-mail address.

2. Abstract

Abstract must be typed on a separate page following the title page. Do not cite references in the abstract. Do not list anything in the abstract that is not there in the manuscript. Abstract for Original articles should be structured in four sections: background, methods, result and discussion/conclusion. Abstract for review article or case report may be structured or unstructured. Abstract for editorial, letter to editor is not required.

3. Key Words

The authors should list 4 to 6 key words or phrases. These key words should be representative of your article and are used for indexing services and other search facilities for published material.

4. Main text

Separate pages should be used for the remaining sections of the text. AABS can only accept manuscripts written in English. Spelling should be US English or British English, but not a mixture. Original articles should be organized in four main headings: introduction, material and method, results, and discussion/conclusion. Subheadings or subdivisions of the main headings may be used for clarification in larger and more detailed articles, but should be limited to key aspects.

If a brand name is cited, supply the manufacturer's name and address (city and state/country). Give sources (name of company and location) for all special reagents (e.g. antibodies, enzymes, probes).

5. Acknowledgment:

All contributors who do not meet the criteria for authorship should be covered. It should include persons who provided technical help, writing assistance and departmental head that only provided general support. Financial and material support and conflict of interests must be written in this section.

6. Declarations:

This information must also be inserted into your manuscript under the acknowledgements section with the headings below. If you have no declaration to make please insert the following statements into your manuscript:

- Funding: None
- Competing interests: None declared

7. References:

The author(s) are responsible for the accuracy of the references. Each reference should be numbered and listed according to their order in the text (do not alphabetize). They should be referred to Arabic numerals in square bracket after the punctuation marks.. Please avoid excessive referencing. Only articles that have been published or are in press may be included in the Reference section. References should be arranged according to the "Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals" rules developed by "International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE)". Some examples have been provided for frequently used reference types. The www.nlm.nih.gov/bsd/uniform_requirements.html site should be used for guidance on other types of references not provided here. Journal titles should be abbreviated according to Index Medicus. Refer to the "List of Journals Indexed in Index Medicus" for abbreviations of journal names, or access the list at www.nlm.nih.gov/tsd/serials/lji.html . Use complete name of the journal for non-indexed journals. Abbreviations are not used for journals not in the Index Medicus. All authors should be quoted for papers with up to six authors; for papers with more than six authors, the first six should be quoted followed by et al. Sample references are given below:

a. Article in journal: Author(s) name (more than 6 names use et al). Title of article. Abbreviation of title of journal Year; Volume: Page.

Example: Goyal P, Sehgal S, Agarwal R, Singh S, Gupta R, Kumar A. Ossifying fibromyxoid tumor - Diagnostic challenge for a cytopathologist. Cytojournal. 2012;9:17.

b. In press article: Author(s) name (more than 6 names use et al). Title of article. Abbreviation of title of journal, in press.

Example: Kumar A, Goyal P, Seghal S, Agrawal D, Kumar V, Singh S. Giant immature teratoma of ovary with gliomatosis peritonei in 15 year-old girl: a case report and literature review. J Gynecol Surg. in press.

c. Chapter of book: Author(s) name. Chapter. In: Editor(s) name. Book. Edition. Place: Publisher; Year: Page.

Example: Meltzer PS, Kallioniemi A, Trent JM. Chromosome alterations in human solid tumors. In: Vogelstein B, Kinzler KW, editors. The genetic basis of human cancer. New York: McGraw-Hill; 2002. 93-113.

d. Book: Author(s) name. Book. Edition. Place: Publisher; Year.

Example: Murray PR, Rosenthal KS, Kobayashi GS, Pfaller MA. Medical microbiology. 4th ed. St. Louis: Mosby; 2002.

8. Tables:

Each table must be typed single-spaced on a separate page following the references. Smaller spacing and font may be used within tables. Tables should be kept to a necessary minimum, and their information should not duplicated in the text. Each table should be numbered and cited in sequence using Arabic numerals (i.e. Table 1, 2, 3 etc.). Each table must include appropriate headings and Footnotes. Abbreviations/acronyms used in a table must be defined in a footnote below the table. Units of measurement must be clearly indicated.

9. Figure with Figure Legends

All figures (illustrations, images, or photographs) should be numbered sequentially in the text with Arabic numbers (i.e., Fig 2, Figs 2, 4–6) and should be referred to in parentheses within the text. During submission of an article, authors should include all figures in the main body of the manuscript in word file format. Figures should not be submitted in separate files. Writing any text on the figures should be avoided as much as possible.

A short detailed legend should be provided for each figure. Abbreviations and symbols used in the figures must be denoted in the legend.

PERMISSIONS

Authors wishing to include figures, tables, or text passages that have already been published elsewhere are required to obtain permission from the copyright owner(s) for both the print and online format and to include evidence that such permission has been granted when submitting their papers. Any material received without such evidence will be assumed to originate from the authors.

ARTICLE PROCESSING CHARGES (APC)

Pacific Group of e-Journals, the parent organization of Annals of Applied Bio-Sciences (AABS), is a self-supporting organization and does not receive funding from any institution/government. Hence, the operation of the AABS journal is solely financed by the processing fees received from authors.

RELATIONS WITH EDITOR(S), AUTHOR(S) AND REVIEWER(S)

Editors do not share information regarding articles (article receipt, review process, referee opinions or final results) with anyone except authors and reviewers. Reviewers and editorial board members cannot discuss articles in a public manner. Reviewers' reviews cannot be printed or disclosed. Care is taken to keep the identities of the reviewers undisclosed. All articles submitted will be subjected to peer review by the editorial board, and the authors will be informed as soon as possible about the editorial decision. Editorial board reserves the right to make some revisions in the article. Revised articles should also be accompanied by a unique letter with responses to reviewers' comments.

PEER REVIEW POLICY

Peer review process is single-blinded i.e. the reviewers know who the authors are, but authors do not. All submissions to AABS are assessed by an Editor, who will decide whether they are suitable for peer review. Submissions felt to be suitable for consideration will be sent for peer review with appropriate independent experts. Reviewers' name will not be revealed to the authors. Editors will make a decision based on the reviewers' reports and authors are sent these reports along with the editorial decision on their manuscript..

ETHICS

When reporting experiments on human subjects, indicate whether the procedures followed were in accordance with the ethical standards of the responsible committee on human experimentation (institutional or regional) and with the Helsinki Declaration of 1975, as revised in 2000 (http://www.wma.net/e/policy/17-c_e.html). Do not use patients' names, initials, or hospital numbers, especially in illustrative material. When reporting experiments on animals, indicate whether the institution's or a national research council's guide for, or any national law on the care and use of laboratory animals was followed.
